

Extra-large for extra precision.

The Corsair Gaming MM200 XL Edition is 450mm wide and 375mm long, for environments where you have a high-resolution monitor and games and applications that require a variety of mouse DPI settings. The cloth surface of the MM200 delivers excellent glide characteristics that allow you to execute fast swipes and pull off high-precision shots with confidence and consistency. It's optimized for gaming sensors, with a carefully-screened surface material that delivers excellent tracking.

You can't afford to have your mouse surface move in the middle of a firefight, so we added a no-slip base that provides cushion with just the right amount of give. And it's made of natural rubber, so it doesn't have a harsh chemical odor.
